PRESIDENT'S CORNER

Steve Bensing

I got a new camera. When you get something new, what do you want to do? Are you the type of person who has to read the manual before you touch your new toy? Or do you take it out of the box, and start playing with it right away?

There are many things in our lives that may be new. It doesn't have to be a thing. It may be a new skill that you learned about in a class or something that you recently heard about. Do you do a lot of research on the skill before you try it out? Or do you start practicing and playing with the skill as soon and as often as you can? I remember learning about HDR photography (High Dynamic Range) from Jim Rettker at a photoclub meeting. I thought it would be fun to try, so I set up my camera to do the exposure bracketing to get the images that I could work with. Then I tried out the Photomatix software that Jim recommended. From a little information and a lot of practice, I learned a technique that I found fun and useful in many situations. I also found out times that it did not work so well.

Now back to the camera. When I got it out, I noticed some buttons and features that were new to me. I looked at the manual for a little bit. Many features were familiar, but I wanted to try something new. So I noticed that there was WiFi on the camera and an app that I could use on my phone. It was fun to see how it could control the camera and transfer photos to the phone. But I still set up the basic features like time and date and putting my name in as the copyright holder of the photos. And I set up the bracketing on the camera.

Whether you got new equipment or a new skill, learn what you need to in order to get started. Then practice. At the Duneland Photography Club, we have opportunities to learn the new equipment, but more importantly, the new skills to improve and make our photography more fun!

MARCH PROGRAM

Renee Rosignol and her family took over the Hoosier Highlander just over four years ago. A long time staple in downtown Highland, the shop has been in business for 76 years. Just as the previous owners were about to give up the search for a new owner to keep it alive, the family came in and decided to give it their best shot. In the past four years, they have expanded their selections in framing, purchased the necessary equipment to keep all steps of their framing in house, and have the privilege of working with so many clients, thrilled at their creations!

Renee will be sharing ideas and hints for framing and displaying your photos.

MEETING RECAP

February 2023

The Duneland Photography Club met on February 7th for their monthly meeting.

At 5:30, Jim Rettker and John Roquet led the mentoring time. They helped explain transferring photos to the computer from the camera. Jim also answered some basic question on Photoshop Elements. John demonstrated Lightroom.

Norman Turner, John Roquet, and Henry Schultz presented a 5-minute Tip on Birds of Prey from the Outdoor Discovery Center in Holland Michigan. We are planning a club outing there in April.

Our speaker for our 7:00 regular meeting, LeAnn Angerman, gave a presentation on Aspect Ratio and answered questions. Since she was one of the founders to the predecessor to the Duneland

Many members participated in the Show & Tell time. The topic for the month was Flowers in Winter.

CARTER'S CORNER

Steve Bensing

Steve had shoulder surgery scheduled for late February. Since it is his right shoulder, he has been thinking about the fact that cameras are not made left-handed. He will have his right arm in a sling for a few weeks.

Maureen Coleman

Maureen is a new member. She was in Ft. Myers a few days back and thought these photos might be interesting...

Carol Estes

Carol will have a booth with her wonderful art at the For the Love of Art Fair at the Century Center in South Bend, Indiana.

The fair is on March 4th and 5th from 10am to 5pm on Saturday and 11am to 4pm on Sunday.

This photo of Carol was taken by Steve Bensing at her booth at last year's fair.

Paul Ewing

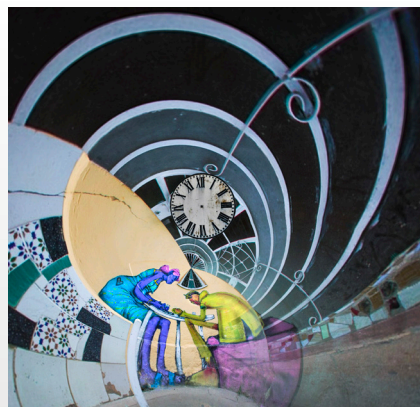

Last week Liz and Paul took a trip to Moline, Illinois to photograph the abundance of eagles. They were able to see a lot of them and had good discussions with local photographers who said there weren't a lot.

They also enjoyed visiting two conservatories in Moline and Davenport, Iowa.

Joyce Scully

Cuba was not at all what she and Bob expected. People are so friendly and always out and about. Havana is very different than the other cities and towns. Dancing, art work, and rum are very much in evident. Street art as well.

Mark Zimmerman

initially joined the Duneland Photo Club to gain photography skills so that he could eventually use photos to convert to watercolor paintings. Since April 2022 he has been creating watercolor artwork.
